FOR THE NASHVILLE UNION. Mr. Editor :- I take the liberty to present the name of Col. Joseph C. Grillo, of Sumner, as a suitable candidate for the office of Governor of Tennessee at the next election. No man in the Democratic ranks has claims over his to honor and distinction at the hands of his party. Whenever a great battie was to be fought and his help was called for, he has promptly placed himself in the midst of the fight. When the principles of his party were to be vindicated in the Legislative Hall, or in the hills and hollows of the State, he has always been at his post, ready, willing and effective. Col. Guild is an old soldier. In 1833, when that excellent old man, Judge White was used by the enemies of President Jackson to deceive and conquer, and sought to give potency to his nomination for the Presidency by a legislative recommendation, he was amongst the first to sound the alarm. Bing a member of the Legislature of that year, he fought McLain's Preamble and Resolutions with z al and with power. From that time to the pres ent, though a series of seventeen years, he has courteously aided, with vigorous mind and excellent debating powers, in promoting the ascendency of democratic doctrines. Whilst others, for inferior services, have asked for and received their reward, neither Guild nor his friends have sought after any for him. The battle lost or won, he has returned to the peaceful pursuits of his profession. ready again to enter the lists when called on by his purty. During the late Presidential canvass, if it were not invidious to make distinction, when all acted with so much ability and fidelity, we might be allowed to say that no man on the electoral ticket rendered more effectual service than he did. Besides those of us who have witnessed his debating powers on the hustings, know that no man in Tennessee is more available or more suitable for the times. He is emphatically the man for the occasion. No man can be nominated more acceptable to the Democracy of RUTHERFORD.

THE MOBILE RACES.

TROTTING RACES-First Day.-Yesterday was the first day of the Mobile races. Our reporter was unable to attend, but we learn that both races were "easy things," and afforded but little sport. The first race was mile heats, 3 in 5, to harness trotting, and was won by Rhode Island, which distanced his competitor, St. Hays the first heat.-Time-2:54.

The second race was mile heats 3 in 5, to saddle. pacing, which was won easily by Dan Rice in three straight heats.

TROTTING CLUB.-The races yesterday, from the known celebrity, and rivalry, of the horses engaged created unusual interest. The emulation of city against city added prejudice to pride, and Orleans and Mobile betted heavily on their respective favorites. On the evening before the odds were 100 to 75 on Burnett-in the morning they were round on Cotterell, and pending the race they turned all sorts of way. Few thought of the other entry. Montgome. ry, yet like the humble friend, his time of power came. Off went Burnett with the lead, and Cotterell close at his side, and such was their burst of speed that the first half mile was completed in 1:19. But this speed could not be maintained. There is a limit to even a fast horse's powers, trainers too often think them endless. The second half was done in 1:22-making the first mile in 2:41.

Close together they entered the second mile, but it was soon evident that the "go" had previously been taken out of them by over work. Both labored on in painful distress-lap and lap-it was either's race as they neared the stand, but Burnett reached it first by a throat latch only-taking 3m. 11 sec. to do the second mile in.

The excitement was intense. Both horses were unfit for anything. Bob Cotterell had to be bled and Burnet was but little better off. Bets were offered that one or both would die before morning. Recovering a little both came up and got an easy start-Cotterell the most distressed-but warning as he got into his work. In the like close order, and with the same indomitable game, they flagged through the second heat -but so plainly were both horses overtasked that the time board showed 6m 26s.

Had the roan remained, the issue might have been different.

The trotting race was equally exciting, though from a different cause. Helen Mar was the favorite at long odds-but she broke up so badly as to be distanced. Between Dolly, Juba and Sampson there ensued a close and interesting race-such as is not often improved for interest, but the old grey proved too much for TROTTING RACES.—Yesterday's amusements were quite of the same agreeable order of the two preceding days. Indeed no previous meeting has been so productive of sport. Each day has been full of interest. Yesterday the pacing race did not come off for want of competition. Burnett and Butcher we e entered, but the victory of the former on Wednesday disqualified him.

But the trot produced abundance of amusement, Among the betters Frank Hays stood at 2 to 1 against the field after the first heats, and at that rate against either before the start. None thought of Barnes' mare, for as he rode her the over weight seemed killing: yet to the utter astonishment of the miscalled knowing ones Hannah Machung on close all the time; and even took the first heat. Nay, but for a momentary fault, close at the stand, would have won the race. Helen Mar tired. Third Day.-Trotting purse $200-two mile

FEATS OF THE CHINESE JUGGLERS.—A COFFESDORdent of the Lowell Vox Populi thus describes one of the performances of the Chinese jugglers in San Francisco: A plank sixteen inches wide and six feet high was placed at the back of the stage, and the impaler with knives took his stand about fifteen or twenty feet in front of it. The knives were about seveninch blades, and four-inch handles, strong and pointed. After playing with them for a time, tossing and whirling them in a most wonderful manner. he threw them one after another, fastening them firmly in the plank before him. He then drew them out, and another Chinaman took his stand before the plank, or rather at the side of it, hölding stood as meaning to discredit it-we imagine there out his arm across the same, and the impaler threw is nothing in the proposed measure to justify the one knife above and another below it, as closely as censure of the whig press. The measure is not they could have been placed there by the most care- without repeated precedent; and surely if at any ful hand, completely fastening his arm upon the plank. The other arm was then reached across and fastened in the same way, the knives sticking foreign relations of the country. It is impossible to firmly and the handles crossing each other. The foresee what momentous national exigency may Chinaman then reached forward his head, and arise within the next twelvemonth, so unsettled

WHIG CONSOLATIONS.

The propensity of human nature to console itself under the most discouraging circumstances is a universal trait. No matter how deep the abyss into which man may have fallen, he is sure to find some solace. This is a fortunate element in our organization, and saves many an unfortunate wight from despair and hopeless abandonment of effort and ex-

At the present time, whig editors and whig leaders present a really amusing exhibition of this trait of our nature. If ever party did seem in utter and hopeless minority, such certainly seems the existing condition of our political opponents. With principles abandoned-without any element of cohesionbeaten by an unparralelled popular vote-Clay and Webster, whose genius and services kept the party together, in their graves-their extinction becomes almost a political certainty. And vet even in this abyss they find solace, and pluck up consolation .-They have become satisfied that the democratic party cannot hold together, and that in a short time the different "factions," as they call them, will assume antagonism and split it up into fragments,-This is their hope now-their consolation. This is the age of new ideas, and the next four years will present in the history of the whig party the solution of a truly original political problem. That problem is, whether the organization of one party can be preserved upon the hope that its antagonist party will disorganize. A slenderer element never before formed a political organization, but it is the only one the whigs have, and we shall look forward to its result with some interest.

Why the democratic party should become disorganized, or upon what basis such an expectation s formed, passes our comprehension. In the late Canvass its principles were distinctly announced .-Its successful candidates had been prominently in public life, and were upon the record upon all questions likely to arise. No man who supported them could have been deceived as to their views of political matters, and every man voted for them with a correct knowledge of their political opinions.-There is, consequently, no basis for disorganization upon any principle of governmental action. The only hope of it must therefore be found in personal rivalries and the dispensation of the "loaves and fishes." This cause may disturb its harmony, but not to any serious or dangerous extent. The great mass of those whose votes elected Pierce and King never thought of office, and support democracy from a conviction that democratic principles are best promotive of the national prosperity. This being so, it is not in the power of dissatisfied leaders to disturb seriously its harmony or defeat it in the next Canvass. We consequently attach but little importance to whig prophecies in this respect .-With such gentlemen "the wish is father to the thought," and they will find themselves as much mistaken in it, as they were (pardon the reminiscence) in Scott's availability.

W. D. GALLAGHER, Esq., has purchased an interest in the Louisville Courier, and will henceforth be associated with Halderman in the editorial management of that paper. Mr. G. is said to be a gentleman of fine talents, and we doubt not he will fill with much credit the chair editorial. Halderman, his partner, possesses great energy of character. The talents of the two combined cannot fail to make the Courier a most excellent paper.

Dr. W. B. Hall .- The numerous friends of this gentleman will find, by reference to his card, that he will be located hereafter on Cherry street, immediately opposite Judge Catron's residence. We have long known Dr. H., and cannot forego this op portunity of adding our humble testimony to his skill as a physician and his worth as a man. Since his location in Nashville, he has been justly endeared to a large circle of friends, and we are gratified to know that his professional acquaintance is commensurate with his sterling merits. In the many changes which the New Year has made, and is making, we are truly rejoiced to know that his invaluable services will continue to be within the reach of the people of Nashville.

NAVY APPOINTMENT .- Dr. W. L. Nichol, of this city, has recevied an appointment as assistant surgeon in the U.S. Navy.

THE NEW GRINNELL ARCTIC EXPEDITION -Dr. Kane has been officially appointed to the command of the new expedition which, by the liberality of Mr. H. Grinnell and Mr. Peabody, is to be despatched to the Arctic regions. He is also charged with duties of a scientific character. It is announced also that Lieut. Page, under instructions from the Secretary of the Navy, is preparing for an explanation of the Plata and Paraguay. The expedition to Japan is also furnished with the requisites for scientific investigation. The United States will thus be simultaneously conducting physical researches in the Eastern seas, in Africa, in South America, and in the polar regions.

James Clough has been found guilty in the Supreme Court of Massachusetts of shooting Gideon F. Manchester, of Fall River, who was pursuing him as a burglar. Chief Justice Shaw passed sentence upon Clough, the substance of which was that he be committed to the State prison, there to remain one year from the 30th of December, 1852, and then to be hung by the neck until he is dead, at such time as the Executive of the Commonwealth

The formal opening of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will take place on the 11th of the present month, attended by the arrival at Wheeling of four or five hundred citizens of Baltimore and the Eastern cities.

The Washington Union of the 29th ult. has the following paragraph in relation to the suggestion that Congress will probably vote a sum of money at the disposal of General Pierce in view of the threatning condition of our foreign affairs:

THE CONFIDENTAL FUND.-A newspaper rumor, that Senator Soule entertains the design of proposing to intrust $10,000,000 to the incoming administration, for the purpose of enabling it to meet any extraordinary exigencies that might arise in the foreign relations of the country during the recess of Congress, has been the occasion of some malioious criticism with the whig press. A newspaper rumor is a very frail basis for an assault upon an ad-ministration before it exists. But though the rumor were true-and we do not wish to be under period it was necessary and proper, it is demanded by the present crisis of doubt and difficulty in the REMARKABLE SAGACITY .- A few days ago a mule and a horse were employed side by side in hoisting heavy goods out of the hold of one of the New York steamers, and by some mismanagement both got overboard. The tide swept them down under the bows of a schooner lying near, there the horse lodged and was buoyed up by some ropes; but the poor mule, a large and valuable animal, being unsustained, was swept off and about to sink. At this moment, with the instinct of self preservation, he seized his companion, the horse by one or his ears, with his teeth, and held himself up until assistance came, and both were saved uninjured .- Savannah

The greatest mortality was in the month of August, when the deaths were 2,425.

KLAUPRECHT PARBONED.—Yesterday afternoon Sheriff Hingdon received a document from Governor Wood, which on being opened was found to contain a pardon from the Governor of Emile Kaulprecht, convicted and sentenced for shooting Dr. Albers. This pleasing information was unexpectedly received by Klauprecht, who upon leaving the jail seemed like a new man, although much reduced from long confinement and sorrow at what had befallen him. His wife and family gladly received him, and again all was joy and happiness .-Cincinnati Nonpariel, Jan. 1st.

THE POLICE VS. EMMA SNODGRASS, AGAIN .- It is well known that Emma Snodgrass in petticoats, alias George Green in breeches, has for some time been about here in gents' apparel and mixed pretty extensively with all sorts of society. But yesterday forenoon, on a warrant issued by Justice Russell of the Police Court, she was arrested and is now confined in the lock-up. She will be arraigned in the Police Court to-day at 10 A. M., when we shall see under what form of complaint she is to be victimized. It must be something else than the mere fact of her wearing breeches. What is it? Common loafer-suspicious person-vagrant-or has she been doing some other naughty thing?-Boston Times, 29th.

JOHN WENTWORTH IN A NEW FIGURE.—The editor of the Chicago Democrat says that he wrote and published the first Proclamation for Thanksgiving in Illinois, without any knowledge even of the Governor. It was in this wise:

We feel proud that our Governors have adopted the custom of appointing Thanksgiving day, as this paper took the lead in the matter, and published for Governor Duncan a proclamation without even consulting him. The first the Governor knew of it, he heard it read from the pulpit. All our Chicago clergymen noticed it and the day was kept in the customary manner wherever the proclamation was known. The sermons were as able, the dinners were as good and the balls and evening parties as agreeable as if the Proclamation had been a gen-

"From a long and careful examination, he is ascertained to be a flaxen haired, bullet-headed, pigeved, huge-faced, long-backed, pot-bellied, bandylegged, stupid, slavish, lumbering, sulky, boor, whose moral state is a disgrace and regret to England. Their uniformity of complexion and figure, their obesity, their weak legs and scanty figure, their small brain in proportion to the long spine and large flat face, are marks of inferiority.

Soon after the late Presidential election, Mr. Healy, the artist, waited upon Gen. Scott, and solicited him to sit for his portrait. He was not chary of expressions of his own admiration for the fame and talents of the old veteran, and complimented him highly. The General heard him out quietly, then turning to him said, "Sir, I have had my portrait painted many times, and have even ubmitted two or three times to the very unpleasant process of having my bust taken;" but, said he straightening up, "sir, I have made up my mind that the American people don't care one - for me, and I'll not have my face duplicated any more. -Bosion Post.

FACTS FOR THE NEXT EDITION OF UNCLE TOM'S Cabin .- A correspondent of the Martinsburgh (Va.) Gazette, furnishes the following facts for the next edition of Uncle Tom's Cabin:

There died lately, in a lower county of Virginia a mulatto man, who had been manumitted by his master, and was, under our law, one of those permaster had, with his liberty, left him a respectable property, and this man, by industry, accumulated an estate of $55,000. He had purchased his wife, who was a slave, and his children were therefore his own property as well as his wife. Falling into bad health, he went to Philadelphia sometime during this last summer for medical advice; but learning from the best physicians that his health was worse than he thought, and that he could not live, he wrote to a relative of his old master to come on for him, which this gentlemen did, and stayed with him and brought him back to Virginia at his request. He died shortly after his return, not long since; and by his last will left all his estate to this gentleman, as well as his wife and children, who are thus the slaves of his friend—trustng, of course, that he would provide for them.

Here was an intelligent, wealthy man, who knew the condition of colored people in the Northern States, thus preferred to leave his wife and children, and all his property, to a white man, to send-ing them out of the State, to live as free persons with a fine estate.

These are notorious and recorded facts, and can be proved if denied; and there are many such ocabove and the other below his neck, seemingly within one-forth of an inch on either side. Such precission and daring was truly wonderful and the whole evening's performance elicited unbounded applause,

THE CITY.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

The Banner has an article declining to combat a recent editorial in the Knoxville Register, with reference to those whigs who were dilatory in the support of Scott. Our neighbor expresses his opinion that the article in the Union does injustice to Gov. Campbell, and states that our Governor warmly preferred Scott over Pierce. The matter is not of much moment. Our neighbor also quotes a rumored cabinet, and comments upon its component elements. He then "knocks his own article into pie," by quoting a correction of this cabinet. Our neighbor then startles us with the caption "Secessionism rearing its front." This propensity of whig editors to be haunted by the hobgoblin of secession, is really amusing. It follows them like their shadow. It seems their other-self. It is true, that the so-called secessionists acquiesce in the compromise, and are for it as a final adjustment. They have said so time and again. Their organization, as a separate party, no longer exists. They have become merged in the two great parties according to pre-existing political affinities. Yet, despite all these facts, whig editors will tremble at secessionists. The Union is to them a "Haunted House," and the ghosts of disunion are ever haunting them, and disturbing their repose. When a man feels apprehension from a real danger he may be reasoned out of it. But when he fears ghosts and hobgoblins all efforts to control him become unavailing .-He must be left to his superstision.

The True Whig quotes an article from the New Hampshire Patriot with reference to removals. The article merely tells, what every body knew before. that whig office-holders will have to vacate their snug places. We think the article a good one, and contains sensible talk. We have no sympathy to offer whig officials. In this world men must reap as they sow, and it is mere affectation to pretend a wish for anything else. We expect and hope that Gen, Pierce will make a tolerally clean sweep. Upon this article the True Whig comments

"All this is strangely enough at variance with that modesty, moderation and magnamity for which he was praised, when he grieved over our defeat, and forbade exultation. The statement that Gen. Pierce "grieved" over the defeat of the whigs is certainly news. If it be true. he should resign the Presidency, come to Nashville, and associate himself with the True Whig. He would certainly be unfit for the Presidency. The idea is an original one, and our neighbor ought to have a patent for it. Our protege also opposes the granting of a contingent fund of ten millions to Gen. Pierce. We have seen no proposition in Congress to do anything of the kind. It will be time to discuss it when proposed. It is not without precedent, though, by a good deal.

The Gazette has an article with reference to the American press. Our neighbor estimates at its high importance this element in our free institu-that a most unfortunate accident has happened to Gen. Pierce in the death of his only son on the railroad. Such a misfortune is truly a terrible one. We call attention to the advertisement of T.
